

Example introduction for your driving lessons (3 minutes)

Ok John, thanks for letting James sit in today?

Last time we worked on junctions — how did you feel that went overall?

What would you say you're most confident with at the moment, and what are you finding more challenging? (Option to use scaling)

Thanks John - I agree with you, so we'll work on roundabouts — particularly your observation and decision making on approach. Does that sound good?

What do you think are the main risks when we practice roundabouts today?

Good — during the lesson I'll give you support on the LADA routine, by the end of the lesson I will be encouraging you to take the lead with your decisions.

As always I'll step in if necessary to keep things safe.

Have you any questions, John?

When you're ready move off John.
